Government Report.

"The instruction & order are sound and satisfactory and the children are receiving a valuable training. The instruction of the infants has improved.

May I remind the Managers that the staff is at present insufficient for the grants under Art. 105 of the Code, which I hope they will not lose next year."

The Staff must be increased if grant under Art 105 of the Code is again to be claimed.

General Remarks:—

"The work in the school is up to a high standard throughout. There is much that calls for praise and little to find any fault with, especially when taking into consideration the disadvantages of sickness amongst the Scholars.

The singing was exceedingly good. The knowledge of the ~~cat~~ catechism on the other hand, was the weakest point."

Report 1902.

"The instruction is given with great care and intelligence, and the school is in a thoroughly sound state of efficiency. The need of some help in the main room is much felt, the Master has all standards to teach single-handed. Some addition to the maps etc., would be useful. The instruction of the Infants is, on the whole, satisfactory, but while their Teacher is taking the sewing in the main room, they are left too much to themselves with the occasional supervision of an upper standard girl."

"An increase of staff (which is at present insufficient to satisfy the conditions of the grant under Art 105 of the Code) would greatly aid the organisation."
